"For the Lord is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endures to all generations." Psalm 100:5.

Truly our Lord is good, and we are so deeply grateful for his mercy and grace. He has tenderly been going before his dear children and we rejoice to see his Holy Spirit working in and through them.

Some of the believers travelled up with Rev Jonathan ole Mapena to the outreach area in the hills of Siana on 9 February. Not only has this been an encouragement to the believers there, but also to our own hearts as we rejoice in the working of our Lord. There are many who are perishing, and they need to be rescued. Indeed, much prayer and labour are required. May God grant that all our hearts and wills will be tender to the cry of those who are perishing and that he will help us to help them, for his glory, and their heartfelt joy.

Six Sunday School teachers were able to travel out to Narok from Olkinyei and attend a time of training. How we give thanks to our Father for these hearts that desire to know more of his Word and how to better share it with precious little ones.

All the children are now back at their different schools within our area and God has so graciously kept them, the school staff, all their families and local communities in these different days.

We have continued to make videos for Sunday services and PW meetings and will be continuing to take part in online midweeks, youth meetings, etc, ever desiring that our Lord will be glorified, honoured and praised and that God will place in his children's hearts a deep desire to see his Kingdom extended, especially amongst the precious souls of the Maasai. What joy will be theirs on that 'Great Day' when they see how their love advanced God's work, alongside their sincere prayers, consideration and compassion.

One who does labour to see God's Kingdom extended is Rev Jonathan ole Mapena, and we have been delighted that he has been elected as the Moderator of Limuru Presbytery.

Prayer points

- Pray for Rev Jonathan ole Mapena and his much increased workload, that our Father will continually lead, guide, strengthen and bless him in all that he does in God's Name and for his glory.
- Rejoice with us that God is working in and through his dear children in Olkinyei. Pray that God will reveal more of himself to each one and that, in trials and triumphs, they will know God, his plans and purposes as he graciously reveals them, and God's tender love, grace, mercy and gentleness, as they share who he is with others.
- Give thanks with us that God has placed on many of his children's hearts that evangelism is the great work of the church. Pray that many more will know this wonderful truth and desire to be part of this great work.
- Pray that God will also draw us and our children closer to himself and lead and guide us in all things, enabling us to ever let his choice be our willing choice, for his glory, honour and praise.
