

BUILDING hope

World Development Appeal 2014

Haiti has a new story to tell.

Five years after an earthquake devastated the country, Haitians are continuing to build; not just houses, but whole new communities – resilient, sustainable communities. Their story is of how hope is rebuilt from the ground up.

In all of this they are being assisted with expertise and resources through churches and local advocacy groups who are partners with Christian Aid and Tearfund and supported by World Development.

www.presbyterianireland.org/world-development